

Susan Gray Detweiler

*DOC | audiobook | ebooks | Download PDF | ePub

[Free] American Presidential China: The Robert L. McNeil, Jr., Collection at the Philadelphia Museum of Art

American Presidential China: The Robert L. McNeil, Jr., Collection at the Philadelphia Museum of Art

Susan Gray Detweiler : American Presidential China: The Robert L. McNeil, Jr., Collection at the Philadelphia Museum of Art before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised American Presidential China: The Robert L. McNeil, Jr., Collection at the Philadelphia Museum of Art:

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Four StarsBy CustomerNICE PICTURES1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. ... a brief history that was enjoyable to read and wonderful pictures.By Al HarringtonI've been collecting the Woodmere presidential china for the last couple of years and this provides a brief history that was enjoyable to read and wonderful pictures.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Overall a very good book and enjoyed the read as well as the ...By Al HarringtonCollect Woodmere White House china and this is my fourth book about the distinction between White House and Presidential china that was used in the White House. Overall a very good book and enjoyed the read as well as the pictures.

The china used by the First Families, both at the White House and in their private homes, reveals a fascinating story of culture and society as it has evolved in the United States since its early days. In this handsome book, which documents over 200 rare items in the remarkably comprehensive Robert L. McNeil, Jr., Collection, a beautiful display of tableware unfolds as readers learn of trends in taste, style, and modes of entertaining, from George Washington to Ronald Reagan. Among the featured objects are Washington's white-and-gold Sevres porcelain that he purchased from a French diplomat recalled at the outbreak of the French Revolution; James Monroe's gilt-edged French porcelain service, the first state service commissioned by the White House in 1817; and John F. Kennedy's understated Wedgwood creamware used at his Georgetown home. Collectors and historians will value the information on how the pieces were commissioned, designed, manufactured, and imported.

About the Author Susan Gray Detweiler has served as Robert L. McNeil, Jr.'s curator of ceramics since 1969. Her books include American Presidential China (1975) and George Washington's Chinaware (1982). David L. Barquist is the H. Richard Dietrich, Jr., Curator of American Decorative Arts at the Philadelphia Museum of Art.