The book was a good help in verifying our collectionBy Kevin R NowakIn our collection we have a majority of older pieces so the edition we purchased was great for our need. We found that it was a helpful tool when a piece had no visible number but you were able to cross reference by saying to see a picture of the piece. The book is almost complete I believe we have one or two pieces not listed or some of the earlier production mark on a few figurines but when you are verifying over 500 pieces does it really matter. Good reference book to update a very old file.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. About the AuthorJohn was born in Amityville, New York in 1962. He, his younger brother, and parents stayed in New York until 1972 when his father was transferred to Pennsylvania. They lived in the beautiful Amish country area in Pennsylvania for three years until Johns father was transferred again, this time to New Jersey. John completed his education in New Jersey and at the age of 16 started working for Pathmark Supermarkets as a cart boy and cashier. When John turned 18 he started building a race car, one of his passions through his growing years. Because of his race car building, John became top mechanic and worked with his parents in the service station they owned. John is now a warranty technician for one of the largest insurance companies in the country.Malinda was born in 1962 on Naha Air Force Base in Okinawa, Japan. Her father was an Air Force Master Sergeant at the time. Her mother was a native of Okinawa. Malinda and her parents lived in Okinawa for nine years until they moved to Langley Air Force Base in Virginia. Malinda completed her education at Tabb High School in Virginia. Malinda moved to New Jersey in 1987 where she met future husband John. When Johns parents moved to Florida, John and Malinda made the move with them. They were married on Valentines Day, 1991.
